

ESG Announces Data Visualization Solution

Norwell, MA, September 18, 2017 – Energy Services Group, LLC (ESG), the retail energy industry’s leading provider of SaaS solutions to empower energy choice globally, announced today that it has released its new Data Visualization product and added a suite of data analysis services. ESG customers will now have the ability to better analyze their data to make informed decisions at the speed required in today’s competitive energy business.

“Our customers today are faced with an overwhelming amount of information – and are demanding a better way to identify trends, challenges, and opportunities. ESG’s Data Visualization solution enables business leaders to easily access, analyze and interpret changes in their business so that they can react more quickly and make more informed decisions. The introduction of these products and services accelerates our mission to innovate and deliver the most comprehensive, globally focused SaaS solutions for the retail energy industry,” stated Phil Galati, ESG’s Chief Executive Officer. “As businesses expand into new geographies and markets, it is critically important to see a consolidated picture of customers, products and services.”

The new product and services will be available on October 1. “Our aim is to save hours of manual work using spreadsheets and reports to identify issues or opportunities,” stated Carol Collins, VP, Product Management. “The power to clearly view and recognize patterns and correlate data will enable our clients to rapidly gain insights and identify questions they didn’t know they had.”
