

Energy Services Group (ESG) and Allegro Form Global Strategic Partnership

NORWELL, Mass. – December 18, 2018 – Energy Services Group (ESG), the retail energy industry’s leading provider of SaaS solutions for empowering energy choice globally, has entered into a strategic partnership with Allegro Development Corporation, the leading global provider of commodity trading and risk management (CTRM) software.

Under the partnership, the two global energy leaders are joining efforts to provide oil and gas pipeline management and storage operators with expertise and world-class automated solutions including the Internet and EDI services solution by Latitude, an ESG company.

“The excellence of the Latitude solution’s underlying technology and its interfacing solutions feature in particular have proven to integrate seamlessly for our clients. ESG’s market share and leadership since the earliest days of energy deregulation have all made partnering a simple and natural process,” said Allegro Director of Partner Relations Brad DeJean.

“Working closely with industry-leading partners like Allegro, we’re committed to continue innovating and delivering the most flexible, scalable and comprehensive business process solutions to support the vital work of pipeline managers and companies throughout the energy industry,” said Steve Piotraczk, ESG vice president of North American sales.

To further demonstrate ESG’s compatibility with Allegro’s solutions to Allegro’s existing customer base, the company will be attending Allegro’s 2019 Global Summit, March 3-7, in Coronado, California.

“We look forward to attending and networking with the world’s top energy companies at Allegro’s Summit. This event offers us the opportunity to meet with other industry leaders and gain greater visibility into how we can provide additional value to energy companies,” said Piotraczk.
